Dear Penpal,

Hello! My name is Lilly. It's nice to meet you through letters! I'm writing because I hope to know more about your life, and I also hope to make friends across the world. First, I will tell you some things about myself, and then I will ask you something about yourself.

Firstly, I'd like to give you a brief self-introduction of myself. I'm Lilly, and I'm twenty years old now. I'm energetic and friendly, and this is my sophomore year. I had joined in our student union and other wonderful associations, so my college life is colorful.

Secondly, I want to tell you about food. Chinese food is different from American food. My favorite Chinese food is fried eggplant, and my favorite American food should be pizza. Since you are familiar with seafood, there is a kind of Chinese food called caoyu, which means roasted fish. Maybe this is attractive for you. If you get a chance to pay a visit to China, you can try it and other kinds of delicious Chinese foods. It would be an unforgettable experience!

Thirdly, I want to tell you something about pets. My favorite pet is cat, and I think cats are really cute and clever. I had a cat when I was a little kid, and she accompanied me while my parents were not at home. I love her very much.

Finally, I also want to tell you about my hobbies. I like running and playing badminton with my friends. Doing sports makes me strong and healthy. Besides, I'm not good at singing but I like listening to music. I like Justin Bieber and Taylor Swift.

And now, I want to ask you some questions about yourself. What is your favorite food? Do you have or want any pets? Which kinds of hobbies do you have? What is a typical day like for you?

Thank you for reading me letter! I hope you were able to learn something about me, and I really hope we can be friends.

Sincerely,
Lilly
